

Lord, My Eyes Are Seeing

Matthew 13:3-8,15,18-23

E (C capo 4)

C I thought I was willing,
Lord, my eyes are seeing, Shallowly receiving,
Lord, my ears are hearing, Meanwhile I was sinning,
F Burying my shameful side.
All that You've been speaking, But the sun exposed me,
G C Now I can no longer hide.
My heart's understanding, too. Bare without Your presence,
F For dire help to You I fly.
Finally, I am turning, Everything seemed peaceful,
G C Till Your words intruded,
Willing to be healed by You. Anxious thoughts arose and G Tried to choke the life away.
Thank You for Your waiting, Lifelessly I drifted,
F C Couldn't tell the night from day.
Arranging everything I'd do. Then a ray of light came,
Shining through a man of clay.

G
Now Lord, my heart
Am F
Cries out for Your loving hand.
C G
And Lord, Amen,
F G
I'd be touched by You.

Oh, the time I wasted,
Trying to be better.
All along you waited,
Just for me to reach my end.
Now I simply open,
Trusting in my truest Friend.
Hold me by your mercy,
Bear fruit in me until the end.

Lord, I've been so hardened,
Caught in worldly traffic,
Drowning out Your words that
Fell upon my wayward heart.
Somehow, still You got in,
Soft'ning up my tender parts.
How could I refuse You?
You bore me on Your wounded heart.

Now Lord, my heart
Overflows with a praising song!
For Lord, I know,
I've been touched by You.
